

Self-reflection activity

Together, we will go through a series of reflections on how you can contribute to a safe climate future in a way that best uses your gifts

What identities do you hold?

Your ethnicity, culture, values etc., The lenses, perspectives, and identities we hold can powerfully shape the action we take.

What are your communities?

You likely have access to spaces that others never will. Your unique relationship to those spaces and people in them will lead to solutions that are hyper local.

What is a belief of worldview that is dissolving in you to help make way for a caring future?

What needs to be done?

What are the personal, community, and structural level things that need to be done?

What are your gifts?

What do you enjoy doing? What are your: talents, special skills, network, resources, privileges?
